LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

Greetings and welcome to this Fall Issue of HBCU CONNECT On Campus Magazine!

In this issue we have some great content for you but before jumping into that, we would just like to take a moment to congratulate you for choosing to educate yourself at one of our nation's proud Historically Black Colleges and Universities! We want to wish you the best of luck in this 2017/2018 school year and please rely on us to be that place to go to network with other HBCU students and alumni, check out scholarships, internships and browse careers after graduation!

Now let's get down to some of the good stuff!

In this issue, we have lots of new opportunities, as well as opportunities from employers that have been reaching out to students on HBCU campuses for years. Make sure you check out all of the opportunities jam packed into this issue, as well as some key information on how to use our website to get the most out of the FREE services we provide!

Also, we are putting a HUGE effort into our new YouTube channel, so please do subscribe. Just go to:

► www.hbcuconnect.com/youtube

Thanks again for picking up this issue of HBCU CONNECT On Campus!

Sincerely,

Will Moss

WHY NOT MAKE A LIVING AND A DIFFERENCE?

Walgreens is more than a place where you can build a career – it's an environment where you can truly touch people's lives. From our retail stores and distribution centers to our corporate offices, clinics and pharmacies, the message is clear: we're dedicated to expanding our position as America's most convenient provider of consumer goods and services, and pharmacy, health and wellness services. Your role in our mission will be abundantly clear from day one, as you're given responsibilities, tasks and projects that matter. It's the reason that so many of our interns come back for full-time positions. And it's the reason why so many of our team members continue to consider themselves part of the Walgreens family.

Innovation. Opportunity. Connections. FULFILLED
